

Everything works as intended. The video at the end shows the learning of the agent nicely. Your comments are adequate to understand your work flow. However, it might be slightly difficult to understand the functions from `tf.agents` without checking the documentation to see what function is used for what reason to comprehend the code fully for a person who is not very familiar with those. Especially, the Experience replay buffer. Nevertheless, well done. Good job!